Thursday 12 November 2026

Dear Friends,

November is a month of remembering. We begin with All Saints, giving thanks for those whose lives have revealed something of the love and holiness of God. At All Souls, we remember those we have loved and lost, bringing our gratitude and grief into God's presence. Then Remembrance Sunday and Armistice Day call us to honour those who have died in war, to reckon with its terrible cost, and to renew our commitment to peace.

Through these days run names, faces and stories. Some belong to our own lives. Others have been entrusted to our collective memory. Each reminds us that remembering carries a responsibility. How will we live because these people have lived?

Last week, I had the joy of baptising a friend's one-year-old son. His name is Zakariah, meaning 'God remembers'. When he was very little, Zak spent a few weeks at Great Ormond Street Hospital, where he needed the support of machines. It felt especially fitting to baptise him in St Christopher's Chapel at the hospital. He is a happy and gorgeous child, and it was a privilege to celebrate his baptism in a place that holds so much of his family's story.

In Scripture, God's remembering means holding someone in care, attending to their need and acting on their behalf. When God remembers, something happens. God draws near, keeps a promise, opens a future. I think of the doctors, nurses and other staff who cared for Zak. Through their skill, patience and kindness, they held him in care and acted on his behalf. There is something profoundly holy about such attention. It means noticing the smallest change, keeping watch through the night and doing what another person cannot do for themselves.

Remembering the saints invites us to practise the generosity, courage and faith we admire in them. Remembering our departed loved ones may move us to carry forward something of their kindness, or to draw alongside someone whose grief is still raw. Remembering those who died in war asks us to take seriously our own responsibility for reconciliation, justice and peace.

At the heart of our worship, too, is Christ's command to remember. At Holy Communion, we remember his life, death and resurrection. We receive his self-giving love and are sent out to embody it in the world by feeding, visiting, listening, forgiving and keeping company with those who feel forgotten.

Little Zak is too young to remember those weeks in hospital. Others will remember for him. In time, they can tell him how faithfully he was cared for. For now, he can simply grow within that love. Perhaps there is a glimpse of grace here for all of us. Even when memory fails, words desert us or faith feels fragile, we remain held in God's care.

Towards the end of November, before Advent begins, we celebrate the feast of Christ the King. After remembering the saints, our departed loved ones and those who have died in war, we are invited to remember who is King over all. It is Jesus Christ, crucified and risen, whose kingdom holds together the living and the departed. We see what kind of king he is in the way he responds to the man dying beside him. 'Jesus, remember me when you come into your kingdom,' the man asks. Jesus promises him a place in paradise. Even there, on the cross, Christ gives himself to the person who needs him.

This November, may our remembering draw us more deeply into that love and move us to act on behalf of those who need our care. And amid all the competing claims upon our attention and allegiance, may we remember that we belong to Jesus Christ, our King.

With prayers and blessings from the Richmond clergy team,
Robert, Anne, Joe & Annie

CHURCH NEWS:

NEW: Safeguarding Sunday
The Church of England has designated this coming Sunday as Safeguarding Sunday. This is to mark the significance with which the Church now takes safeguarding: it hasn't always, in the past.
Our Parish Safeguarding Officers are Jo Kitson at St Mary Magdalene, Gertrude Seaborne at St Matthias and Jo Kitson is also temporarily overseeing safeguarding at St John the Divine. Gertrude will be present at St Matthias and Jo will be at both St Mary Magdalene and St John the Divine this Sunday so that you can be familiar with who they are.
If you want to find out more about how we deal with safeguarding, go to www.richmondteamministry.org/safeguarding.

NEW: Christingle at St Mary Magdalene
We're proposing to do a similar nativity to last year during the 5pm Christingle service on Christmas Eve at St Mary's. Teenagers narrating us through the Christmas story, smaller children dressing up, Andreana holding it all together with a tinkle on the piano.
Commitment:
November 29th: 10:45am (during coffee): planning meeting
December 6th: 10:45am (during coffee): walk through of script, plan costume
December 20th: 10:45am (during coffee): dress rehearsal
December 24th: 4.30pm - final prep before 5pm Christingle service.

Contact Maia (07500 765733) for more information, to express preference on your part or just turn up on 29th November.

Update on the Bell restoration project at St Mary's
After the phenomenally successful Preachathon at the end of September, the New Bells for Richmond campaign has now raised in excess of £230,000 with a further £20,000 pledged for when the work is completed.
This means that the fund raising reached its target in just 12 months, with the money raised through the Preachathon including £12,000 for the Richmond Soup Kitchen.
Although the exact final cost will not be known until the work is complete, we believe we now have enough to cover all of the costs of the work required to install five new bells and the three restored bells made in 1680.
We now expect our new ring of eight bells to be delivered and installed by the end of January. Once ringing has resumed, we will be able to obtain an accurate estimate for reinstating the clock bell so that it will chime each hour during the day.
The peal boards have been skilfully restored by our conservator and will be returned to St Mary Magdalene during the week of November 18 and will be on display in the church before being rehung in the ringing room the following week. Do take the opportunity to look at them.
The ringers are extremely grateful for the magnificent support for this historical fund-raising project and look forward to ringing again soon with new bells and a new sound.

James Nicholson
James, our longstanding verger whom many of you will know, has written to give notice that he would like to leave his post at the end of January 2027 to spend more time with his family. James joined the staff of Richmond Team Ministry in 2016 and has been a great servant to the churches in our team, in all sorts of ways. After I arrived at St Mary Magdalene, when I took a funeral, a funeral director introduced himself to me and said, "So, you're the new member of clergy… you guys come and go, but I know we'll be alright when I see James at the door: he's the constant." As well as moving the furniture, in many ways, James has been part of the furniture and he will be greatly missed.
That said, he's not leaving just yet, and there will be time to do a proper good-bye in the New Year.

Thursday 12 November - Faure Requiem at St Matthias
November is often a chance to pause, reflect and remember. With All Souls' Day and Remembrance falling in quick succession, it is a moment to stop and think about those who have come before us. Richmond Chamber Choir, whose musical home is St Matthias' Church, are teaming up with the church's own choir to perform Gabriel Fauré's famous Requiem on Thursday 12 November at 8pm. Directed by Alexander Turner, and accompanied on the organ by Phoebe Tak Man Chow, solos will be performed by Richmond Chamber Choir's choral apprentices who are current students at the Royal Academy of Music. Entry is free, with a retiring collection divided between the church and chamber choir. The performance will be around 45 minutes, with poetry reflecting remembrance interpolated between movements of Fauré's sublime and ultimately hopeful music.

The Questions of Jesus — Richmond Team Ministry Advent Quiet Day

Saturday 28th November, 10am–3pm
St John the Divine, Richmond, Kew Road, TW9 2NA

Before the busyness of Advent and Christmas begins, take a little time to be still, breathe and reflect. Our Advent Quiet Day offers space to step away from everyday demands, listen for God's voice and prepare our hearts for the coming season.

Led by The Rev'd Dr Simon Cuff, Rector of St Mary-le-Bow in the City of London, we will explore The Questions of Jesus, considering how Christ's questions invite us into deeper faith and shape our lives today.

The day will begin with Holy Communion, followed by coffee, and will include two addresses, generous periods of silence and personal reflection, prayer and closing reflections.

Programme

- 10am: Holy Communion
- 10.30am: Coffee
- 10.45am: First address
- 11am: Silence and reflection
- 12 noon: Prayer During the Day
- 12.15pm: Lunch
- 1pm: Second address
- 1.15pm: Silence and reflection
- 2.15pm: Closing reflections
- 2.45pm: Sending out

Please bring a packed lunch, or buy lunch at one of the various cafés and eateries in Richmond.

Whether you are familiar with quiet days or coming for the first time, you are warmly welcome.

Giving to the Church

Please consider becoming a regular donor to the church, if you are not one already. The churches in Richmond Team Ministry all face bills and various costs through the year, from fixing a roof to paying an administrator; we also, through our contribution to the diocese and from our own resources, fund the stipends and housing of three full time clergy. Through the diocese, we also have a part time curate. Beyond this, the churches in Richmond contribute significant financial support to the work of other churches in Southwark Diocese in poorer areas than ours. While we are blessed with investment income, we also depend significantly on regular donations from ordinary congregation members and supportive members of the community.
The best way to give to us, which requires the least administration is through 'the Parish giving Scheme'.
Go to: parishgiving.org.uk/donors/find-your-parish/richmond-team-ministry-richmond
If you would consider a regular or a one-off donation, that would be great.
If you have any questions, please contact Jackie Harrison (stewardshipcoordinator@richmondteamministry.org) or 07747 111525.

Richmond Soup Kitchen is back!
This week marks the start of another winter of Richmond Soup Kitchen supporting people in our community. We will be opening from 11th November to 29th April, every Wednesday and Thursday 5-6pm and Saturday 9-10am. The weather has certainly turned, and we anticipate, as with every season, that we will be busier than ever.
Every year, I find myself wondering whether this might be our last season - whether enough can change in our society that organisations like ours are no longer needed. I remain hopeful that one day this will be the case. But until then, we will be here.
If you are in a position to donate, either as a one off or regularly we would really appreciate your support via richmondsoupkitchen.org. Also follow us on social media @richmondsoupkitchen to keep up to date on all our news.
If you are interested in volunteering with us please get in touch at volunteers@richmondsoupkitchen.org
We have a few Christmas events coming up, we would really love to see you there.
Come and Find us at the Christmas Lights Switch-Ons
We are excited to be attending two Christmas Lights Switch-On events this year!
We'll have stalls selling our fantastic Christmas gift tags, lovingly made from all the Christmas cards you donated last year. We'll also have festive treats, reindeer food and cake available in exchange for donations to support our work.

- Teddington: Thursday 26th November, from 5pm
- Hampton Hill: Friday 27th November, from 5pm

We would also love some extra volunteers to help us run the stalls. If you can spare an evening, please get in touch at volunteers@richmondsoupkitchen.org.

Christmas Eve Carols at St John the Divine
Celebrate this Christmas Eve in Richmond at St John the Divine with a warm, family-friendly celebration of carols, community and the Christmas story. Led by Revd. Joe Moore, the service will feature festive sing-alongs and readings by candlelight followed by mince pies and hot drinks. Donations will be welcomed on-the-day for the vital work of Richmond Soup Kitchen and Shepherd's Star. Bring the whole family, invite a neighbour or just come along to share in the music and festive cheer.
We are seeking a few volunteers for the day to help set up and serve mulled wine and festive treats. If you are free please do get in touch.
Everyone is welcome and we'd love to see you there!
3pm - 4pm. Free to attend and all ages welcome.

Isabelle Swann
